- 1. RECEIVE and APPROVE the Record of Action for the February 25, 2026 meetings of the Racial Justice Oversight Body Data Subcommittee, with any necessary corrections.

Public Comment:

No comment.

Jeff Landau moved to receive and approve record of action.

Shannon Ortland seconded.

5 yes (all who were present voted)

Motion passed.

- 2. REVIEW County Data for the Data Walk Activity and Summary Report Timeline

See attached slide deck. Staff walked through the data and information. Subcommittee had thorough discussion.

Be clear on the data and what it is representing: Crimes? Arrests? What was reported by an officer? “Percent share of reported crime by individuals to law enforcement”?

Better off using a histogram; put the raw numbers against the total pop numbers; more information the better.

RIPA data is reported inconsistently across police depts, and within depts year to year in terms of accuracy and completeness. Also very subjective as it relies on police officer perception, and also on community member calls and their biases. However, even if incomplete or inconsistent, it does allow us a starting point to build off of, to identify areas of improvement needed (in collection, in transparency, in reporting), and can still provide insights of value.

In addition to CJ agencies, do we ever collect data from PD and DA? Or Probation or Court? Who is being charged, when are charges dismissed, when are plea bargains offered and accepted? How are families being portrayed in probation reports?

Can we also include ages, and when folks are being charged as adults, and who they are?

CA Report on Reparations includes a section that summarizes what kinds of data is collected by county and agency. We can look at that to identify what data exists as reported by agency.

Sheriff Dashboard went live 3 weeks ago

Does Sheriff collect data of arrested and detained individuals that are assessed as mental health impacted who get moved to BH detention/psych emergency holds?

Bookings data is held by Sheriff; arrests data is reliant on police depts, which can vary in consistency and completeness.

Let’s learn from other counties, like Alameda, about strategies they employ in regard to their new dismissals/acquittals.

Tie in VERA Report findings that occurred after the 2018 report; look to their executive report for highlights, if not all offered.

A lot of information shared, legal-ese language, a lack of definitions, and there are nuances and discrepancies that need to be considered; compare apples to apples; it’s unclear what we want audience to take away.

Such a wide swath of data, across multiple systems, and a very challenging process and project.

Do we collect police-involved killings? And when that person has a MH illness? Racial background?

RJOB task:

Determine what data points we want to hone in on. What should our priorities be for the next quarter?

Make recommendations to BOS on how to better collect, track, analyze, and share data to help community know what the state of things is, support depts in improving their data practices, and inform BOS on policy, all working towards the goal of eliminating racial disparities in our county's criminal legal system.

Public Comment:

2015-2024 Misdemeanor Arrest Rates: Contra Costa County

This data for Contra Costa County’s Misdemeanor Arrest Rates was accessed through the Department of Justice’s Open Justice tool. The data is reported on an annual basis by each law enforcement agency within Contra Costa County. Arrests are defined by the Department of Justice as follows:

“An arrest occurs when a person is taken into custody because a peace officer has reason to believe the person violated the law. Not all arrests result in persons being jailed. Arrestees may be released by the arresting agency, post bail, or be released on their own recognizance to appear in court at a later date. Some are issued citations, much like traffic tickets, which direct them to appear in court at a later date.”

In order to analyze arrest trends more accurately over time, arrest counts were standardized using per capita rates. Per capita rates were calculated using the following formula:

$$\frac{\text{Number of Misdemeanor Arrests}}{\text{Population}} \times 100,000 = \text{Arrest Rate per 100,000 Residents}$$

Population estimates were obtained from the United States Census Bureau’s American Community Survey (ACS) 1-year estimates. The population estimates are included in Appendix A. These rates were then used to create a line chart illustrating changes in arrest rates and racial disparities over time:

Figure 1: Misdemeanor per capita arrest rates across all Contra Costa County law enforcement agencies, by race, from 2015-2024.

The initial analysis shows that misdemeanor arrest rates for White and Hispanic residents remained stable over the study period. In contrast, misdemeanor arrest rates for Black residents were substantially higher than those of White residents across all years analyzed. While arrest rates declined sharply during the COVID-19 pandemic, rates for all groups began increasing again in recent years. This suggests a gradual return toward pre-pandemic levels. Further analysis was conducted to compare how misdemeanor arrest rates for Black and Hispanic residents changed relative to White residents over time.

To examine these differences, Risk Ratios were calculated. Risk Ratios measure the relative likelihood of one group experiencing an outcome (in this case, arrests) compared to a reference group. In this analysis, White residents were used as the reference group, meaning a Risk Ratio greater than 1 indicates that a group experienced higher arrest rates than White residents, while a value below 1 indicates lower arrest rates.

The following formula was used to calculate the Risk Ratios:

$$\text{Risk Ratio} = \frac{\text{Arrest Rate of Racial Group}}{\text{White Arrest Rate}}$$

For example:

$$\frac{\text{Black Arrest Rate per 100,000}}{\text{White Arrest Rate per 100,000}}$$ and

$$\frac{\text{Hispanic Arrest Rate per 100,000}}{\text{White Arrest Rate per 100,000}}$$

The outcomes of the misdemeanor arrest Risk Ratio analysis are available in Appendix B. Below, a line chart is included in Figure 2 to analyze how Risk Ratios for Black and Hispanic residents changed over time. The chart illustrates that the disparity between Black and White misdemeanor arrest rates remained consistently high throughout the study period and generally increased over time. In contrast, the disparity between Hispanic and White misdemeanor arrest rates remained more stable.

Figure 2: Misdemeanor arrest rate Risk Ratios across all Contra Costa County law enforcement agencies, by race, from 2015-2024.

The Black-White misdemeanor arrest gap is increasing over time. This widening gap may be due to the overall arrest rates for Whites declining. The Racial Justice Oversight Body expects that arrests should decline for all races. We recommend further analysis to better understand the factors contributing to this trend, as the widening disparity is concerning.

2015-2024 Felony Arrest Rates: Contra Costa County

The same methodology used for misdemeanor arrest rates was also applied to felony arrest rates, including the calculation of per capita arrest rates and racial Risk Ratios using DOJ arrest data and ACS population estimates. The following chart illustrates changes in per capita felony arrest rates over time:

Figure 3: Felony per capita arrest rates across all Contra Costa County law enforcement agencies, by race, from 2015-2024.

Felony arrest rates declined across all racial groups between 2015 and 2024, though Black residents consistently experienced substantially higher rates than other groups. Further research is recommended to better understand why felony arrests are decreasing while misdemeanor arrests are increasing over the same period.

The following chart illustrates the Risk Ratios Black and Hispanic residents and how it changed over time.

Figure 4: Felony arrest rate Risk Ratios across all Contra Costa County law enforcement agencies, by race, from 2015-2024.

The Black-White felony arrest disparity remained consistently high throughout the study period and widened between 2015 and 2020 before stabilizing in later years. Hispanic-White risk ratios remained comparatively low and relatively stable over time. Similar to the trends for misdemeanors, we recommend further research on the widening felony arrest disparity gap and the factors contributing to these patterns.
