2. Please explain why you would like to serve on the Council on Homelessness and in the specific Council seat(s) you are applying for. (400 word maximum) *

My journey to this application started growing up in the Bay and witnessing friends and family struggle with housing precarity and homelessness in a so-called booming economy. It led me to pursue a career after high school trying to help folks. I spent four years working in humanitarian aid and service provision work, operating soup kitchens, street outreach, and afterschool programs. But, like many in that line of work, I found myself burned out. The work felt like putting bandaids on much deeper wounds and the wages available left me experiencing housing precarity myself. It was during this time – and the transition out of it – that I experienced intermittent sheltered homelessness, sleeping on couches and a vehicle we were lucky enough to have. From there, I transitioned to the trades. My partner and I were able to establish the stability our adolescence and early adulthood lacked but struggled to reconcile our new world with the reality of our past. During this season, I remember working on properties with art pieces worth more money than I would earn in decades (including a $2.1M foot statue) and struggling with the social imbalance of wealth and housing in the Bay. I stumbled into a career of property management and decided to pursue an education – hoping to thread the needle of fulfilling work AND living wages. My education focused on homelessness policies in the Bay and resulted in research projects published in both my university's research journal and the Barnard-Columbia Urban Review. This led to an equity policy research fellowship for the California Housing Partnership where I supported existing projects around Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing, Housing Needs Assessments, and homelessness policy. I also led a racial equity impact assessment of the State's first three rounds of Homekey and provided policy recommendations for Homekey+. From there I landed a job in the Tribal branch of Homekey+ before taking my current position as a housing policy fellow with the Partnership for the Bay's Future. I am very privileged to be where I am now and am applying to continue to serve and advocate for folks experiencing homelessness. I believe my professional and academic success in policy is rooted not so much in my direct experience, but in the role identifying the personhood of individuals impacted by policy decisions around housing and homelessness. That insight is what I hope to bring to the Council.

3. Please briefly describe any personal or professional skills, experiences, volunteer work, or connections (such as affiliations with organizations addressing homelessness) that you would bring to the Council on Homelessness and/or the specific seat you are applying for. For example, you can talk about things like your experience getting services in the county, comfort with public speaking, experience working with unhoused youth, community activism, relationships with organizations, etc. (400 word maximum) ***

My career has centered around developing equitable solutions to homelessness and housing precarity in California and the Bay Area. I currently serve as a housing policy fellow through the Partnership for the Bay's Future (PBF), where I work for the City of Pinole as a housing programs manager, overseeing multiple housing and homelessness initiatives. In this role I have worked diligently with CORE to secure increased services in Pinole as well as the city managers and city staff of neighboring municipalities of Hercules, El Cerrito, and Richmond. I have supported the development of permanent supportive housing projects such as SAHA's Valor Village, presented equitable housing and homelessness solutions to city council, worked diligently in the development of strategic community engagement strategies for tenant protection programs, and housing resource allocation. Through my role with PBF and its commitment to a regional approach to housing and homelessness solutions, I have collaborated with the Bay Area Housing Finance Authority, the Housing Authority of Contra Costa County, and the cities of Richmond, Concord, and Antioch. Their partnership model aims to work jointly with community-based organizations, which has further extended the program's network in Contra Costa to Multi-Faith Action & Hope Solutions, East Bay Housing Organization, Richmond Neighborhood Services, Richmond Our Power Coalition, Community Housing Development Corporation, RichmondLAND, Northern California Land Trust, and the Richmond Community Foundation. Access to this network creates the opportunity to foster nuanced understandings of the complexities around homelessness, housing, and service provision that the Council on Homelessness is intended to operate within. I also bring six years of experience managing market-rate, affordable, and permanent supportive housing units and worked as a program representative for Homekey+ with the California Department of Housing and Community Development. These roles require the close collaboration with service providers, individuals experiencing or recently having experienced homelessness as well as landlords, developers, and local agencies to ensure the successful creation of and placement in housing. My experience and current roles strongly support the Council on Homelessness' goals of supporting Contra Costa's community members navigating the complexities of homelessness and housing precarity.

4. Please identify your personal connections with homelessness by selecting one of the options below: ***

- ☐ I am a person currently experiencing homelessness and living in a shelter or location not meant for human habitation (e.g., in a tent).
- ☐ I am a person who experienced homelessness within the past 7 years but is currently housed.
- ☒ I am a person who experienced homelessness more than 7 years ago but is currently housed.
- ☐ I am a family member of someone who has experienced homelessness
- ☐ I am none of the above but still invested in addressing homelessness in Contra Costa County.
- ☐ I would prefer not to respond

5. Unhoused people in Contra Costa County come from many different backgrounds in terms of race, ethnicity, culture, ability, age, sexual and gender identity, and immigration status. Please list and explain 3 reasons why certain groups might have a harder time accessing services than others. (400 words maximum) ***

The overarching goal of the Council is to end homelessness. That means approaches need to address the specific contexts that lead to and perpetuate homelessness for the diverse individuals that experience it in our community. An intersectional approach to policy design is needed to adequately address the barriers faced by marginalized community members when accessing housing, support services and employment.

For example, my research has examined the specific barriers to exiting homelessness experienced by black and indigenous persons of color in the Bay. Historic marginalization and disenfranchisement have led to elevated rates of housing precarity in black and brown communities within the Bay Area, resulting in overrepresentation of BIPOC folks in our homeless populations. This is the result of explicit and implicit housing and labor laws throughout the state. Further, over-policing and mass incarceration have created barriers to accessing housing, employment, and support through the over-imposition of criminal records. Barriers also result from implicit bias within our support structures, both in their implementation and often-times in their design. What this means is that if our approaches to ending homelessness do not consider the impact of these circumstances, they will fail to end homelessness for all folks in Contra Costa.

While working with California Tribal Entities on permanent supportive housing development for HCD through Tribal Homekey+, I also learned the complexities of navigating solutions to homelessness in the context of indigeneity. The impact of the state's history and current relationships with tribal entities shapes the way tribal members interact with homeless services. Addressing homelessness amongst tribal members meant closely with tribal representatives to ensure services are effective. When designing Tribal Homekey+, it was vital to coordinate with tribal entities to design a development model that worked for their circumstances. Rather than assessors, we worked as collaborators with tribal representatives to help projects feasibility and ensure the programs provided worked for the specific contexts their tribal members experiencing homelessness faced. I believe this will be the key to developing any effective program aimed at addressing the underlying causes of homelessness and the particular stickiness of homelessness for marginalized community members.

Ending homelessness means ending homelessness for all. Services need to be accessible to varied backgrounds and contexts of the individuals we aim to help if we truly aim to help all folks. Failing to do so will mean that even the best of intentioned programs will have lopsided and incomplete successes.

6. Please share and explain two (2) ideas to help Contra Costa County better support people who are unhoused and people at risk of being unhoused. Your ideas can come from your own experience receiving services, your work, and/or what you've seen in the news. (400 word maximum) *

One of the programs I really appreciate in Contra Costa's CoC is CORE. I am excited to have helped the City of Pinole secure a joint CORE Outreach Team dedicated to our city, San Pablo, El Cerrito, and Hercules. And while their services and impact have been exceptional since their implementation, I believe it would be worthwhile to find ways to increase the salary provided to the team members. Staff retention has come up in my interviews with municipalities about the program. Based on their input (and my personal experience), making salaries more competitive would have a great impact on staff retention. Doing so in a cost-effective way will be important in ensuring municipalities are able to continue to support their teams. Possible strategies could include breaking the CORE outreach program into regional coverages (i.e. North, East, West) where salaries can reflect regional elevated costs of living. Another solution could be localizing service provision to reduce operating expenses by collaborating with municipalities to 'host' a team. Increasing this program's staff retention capacity will allow team members to better build the individualized trust and relationships that can help community members experiencing chronic homelessness.

While much of my career has focused on creating systems to help folks successfully exit homelessness, support programs that can help folks at risk of homelessness remain housed are equally pivotal in ending homelessness. It would be great for the county to build off existing tenant protection programs towards landlord engagement and eviction mitigation. This is especially important when considering the recent Bay Area Eviction Report put out by BAHFA. Contra Costa now has the second highest eviction rate in the nine Bay Area counties. They attribute this trend to demographic trends; more folks are being priced out of denser metropolitan regions of the Bay and entering renter markets where fewer established tenant protection programs or eviction mitigation programs are established. My experience working in property management has highlighted the role advocacy and aid can play in minimizing displacement through preventing eviction tactics before proceedings even begin. This includes more 'soft' eviction practices that render a space less and less hospitable such as through deferred maintenance. Developing support programs around eviction that target landlord accountability, engagement, and alternative dispute resolution techniques can help resolve underlying circumstances in a less confrontational manner that maintains positive relationships with tenants and landlords alike and bypasses eviction defense counsel proceedings.

Our system must be nimble and flexible enough to respond through the shared responsibility, accountability, and transparency of the community.*

Do you agree with the Housing First approach and Guiding Principle described above? *

City Government Seat. I'm applying to continue contributing to the Council and the great work done.

3. Please briefly describe any personal or professional skills, experiences, volunteer work, or connections (such as affiliations with organizations addressing homelessness) that you would bring to the Council on Homelessness and/or the specific seat you are applying for. My past experiences include working to enforce the Fair Housing Act for the Department of Justice within the state of Washington across 22 counties. I have also worked for Housing Authority for almost 7 years to include managing Section 8 housing vouchers, Project-based vouchers, Agency vouchers, FUP vouchers, and VASH vouchers. I have worked across different programs for housing placement shelters, and hotelling based service models under federal ARPA funds. I have done harm reduction and implemented housing first principles for several cities and jurisdictions.

4. Please identify your personal connections with homelessness by selecting one of the options below: *

- ☐ I am a person currently experiencing homelessness and living in a shelter or location not meant for human habitation (e.g., in a tent).
- ☐ I am a person who experienced homelessness within the past 7 years but is currently housed.

Please list and explain 3 reasons why certain groups might have a harder time accessing services than others. (400 words maximum) ***

No matter what intersectionality's exist for people, it's important for all everyone to have equitable access to the service and help that they need because individual outcomes are jointly felt across society and within communities. The entire county is impacted by the lack of addressing the needs of the most marginalized within our community, and as a collective we should compassionately and intentionally address the root cause issues impacting those who are at risk of being unhoused or are currently/intermittently experiencing homelessness. This is a devastating social problem that reflects broader systemic failures and social inequalities which diminish us all. By extending aid to our unhoused residents, the county commits to the collective values which include upholding the inherent dignity of every person, while affirming the principles of caring for one another across our community. Homelessness often stems from complex systemic issues, including poverty, lack of affordable housing, mental health challenges, and substance use disorders. Everyone needs housing and access to services in order to realize their potential, and help communities thrive.

6. Please share and explain two (2) ideas to help Contra Costa County better support people who are unhoused and people at risk of being unhoused. Your ideas can come from your own experience receiving services, your work, and/or what you've seen in the news. (400 word maximum) ***

One idea would be to focus more resourced on prevention such as rental assistance programs, the creation of affordable unit through public private partnerships under the housing authority to tie subsidies to units, and the creation of public private partnerships, all for prevention. The second idea is to create regional partnerships to consolidate resources and apply jointly for federal, local, and state dollars to carry out a strategy across the county.

7. How many Continuum of Care (CoC), Council on Homelessness (CoH), or Youth Advisory Council (YAC) meetings have you attended in the past? ***
